Roger Hockenberry Joins Criterion Executive Team

Former Managing Partner of Gartner, Sun Microsystems and Netscape brings expertise in high performance computing and consulting Vienna, VA – April 20, 2009 - Criterion Systems, a leading provider of information technology services to Government and commercial clients, today announced that Roger Hockenberry has assumed the position of Executive Vice President. Prior to taking on this new role, Hockenberry served as Vice President, Managing Partner at Gartner. With over 20 years of experience at levels of technology development, operations and consulting, Mr. Hockenberry will contribute to all aspects of strategic decision making for Criterion, and focus on innovative technology solutions for our customers and partners.

“We are very pleased to have Roger join Criterion as a member of our Executive Team,” said Promod Sharma, President & CEO of Criterion. He added, “His depth of experience makes him a valuable addition to our executive team.”

Mr. Hockenberry brings a strong track record of technology expertise to Criterion. During his tenure at Gartner, Mr. Hockenberry led the Intelligence and Department of Justice practices as well as the Health Care Vertical. In addition Mr. Hockenberry sponsored the development of Gartner’s Identity and Access Management , and Encryption Strategy solutions. Prior to Gartner, Mr. Hockenberry worked for both Sun Microsystems and Netscape Communications developing solutions that are still used by millions of people today.

In addition to his executive role at Criterion, Mr. Hockenberry will continue to speak at events about innovation and technology injection; and continue his role as a support of the theatre and arts in Washington DC.

“Criterion continues to emerge as the leader in extremely high performance computing solutions for the ‘edge of the cloud.’ Roger brings a level of experience and sophistication that will further our ability to excel in this highly complex computing and services environment. We are very pleased to have him join our executive team,” said Michael Dillard, COO for Criterion. Mr. Hockenberry added, “I am very excited to join a company that is focused on providing the best services and solutions as a trusted advisor to the their clients and partners.”
